Park View Academy Strengthens Early Childhood Education Through HighScope Curriculum Integration

August 31, 2026

Jersey City, New Jersey - August 31, 2026 -
Park View Academy has reinforced its commitment to high-quality early childhood education by fully integrating the HighScope Curriculum across its infant, pre-toddler, and toddler programs, providing children with structured yet flexible opportunities for active learning and development. The academy operates two locations and is accepting enrollment for all programs at both sites.

The academy serves families with young children through age-appropriate programs that emphasize play-based, child-centered experiences. Its infant program focuses on providing loving care and gentle stimulation tailored to each child?s natural schedule for eating, sleeping, and play. Pre-toddler programs engage children in inquiry-based exploration to build independence, confidence, and a sense of community through literacy, math, art, science, and music activities. The toddler program supports curiosity and skill-building through whole-class, small-group, and individual play in a nurturing environment.

Play-based, child-centered, and grounded in research, the HighScope Curriculum features active learning at its core. In HighScope classrooms, children are guided to explore, interact, and exercise their creative imagination through purposeful play. Well-prepared teachers support and extend each child?s learning based on their developmental levels, preparing them to enter school ready and eager to learn. This approach aligns closely with Park View Academy?s dedication to creating a nurturing, stimulating, and welcoming environment for all children, incorporating a variety of educational theories while keeping the child?s best interest in mind and allowing for hands-on, experiential learning.

?At Park View Academy, we focus on children?s strengths by providing opportunities for purposeful play that fosters cognitive, social, emotional, and physical growth,? said Yeon Benkovitz, co-founder of Park View Academy. ?Our educators observe and interact with each child to scaffold their learning experiences, ensuring that every moment contributes to meaningful development in a supportive setting.?

The curriculum?s emphasis on active learning encourages children to plan, carry out, and reflect on their activities, promoting problem-solving skills and independence. Teachers use a consistent daily routine that includes time for free play, group activities, outdoor exploration, and rest, which helps build predictability and security for young learners. This structure supports the academy?s core values of dependability, engagement, integrity, genuineness, and growth, as the team works collaboratively to meet the needs of children and families.

Diane Branco, co-founder of Park View Academy, noted, ?Partnering with parents is central to what we do. By maintaining open communication and involving families in their child?s learning journey, we help cultivate a lifelong love of learning that extends beyond our classrooms.?

Park View Academy?s programs are designed to meet children where they are developmentally while challenging them to reach new milestones. The academy welcomes families seeking a rich learning environment where children are lovingly encouraged to blossom. Seasonal offerings, such as structured summer camp experiences with weekly themes, outdoor activities, field trips, and special projects, further complement the year-round curriculum by providing additional opportunities for socialization, physical activity, and creative expression.

The integration of the HighScope approach reflects broader best practices in early childhood education, where research supports the benefits of active, hands-on learning for long-term academic and social success. Park View Academy?s educators receive training to implement this curriculum effectively, ensuring fidelity to its principles while adapting to the unique interests and needs of each group of children. This ongoing professional development underscores the academy?s focus on continuous improvement for its team and the children it serves.

Families interested in enrollment and program details can connect with the academy through its established channels. Facilities emphasize safety, privacy, and quality care, adhering to policies that protect family information while supporting essential operations.

Park View Academy is a childcare and early education center dedicated to nurturing young minds through research-based, play-oriented programs. With a team of experienced educators, the academy provides infant, pre-toddler, toddler, and additional care options in a welcoming environment that prioritizes each child?s holistic development and family partnership.
